

SENATE WARNS WORLD POWERS

Other Countries Must Not Acquire Foothold Even Through Corporations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The United States Senate today issued a warning to the nations of the world against encroachment upon the continents of North and South America.

The United States will not "see, without grave concern," said the Senate, "any naval or military site pass into control of a foreign corporation, when such possession might threaten the communications or the safety of the United States."

So vital were the issues discussed in the Senate today that the official endorsement of the administration, it was framed, entirely outside the state department, and it is understood that the executive branch of the government was not consulted with regard to the Senate's pronouncement.

The resolution arose from the reported attempt of a Japanese syndicate to get land about Magdalena Bay. In the form finally adopted by the Senate, it declares against the acquisition of any threatening location by a foreign corporation "which was such a relation to another government not American, as to give the government practical power of control for naval or military purposes."

Those who opposed the motion on its final passage were Senators Cummings, McComber, Percy and Stone. Demand was made in the secret session for the designation of the country toward which the resolution was directed. Those who supported it, including Senators Root, Lodge, Burton, Hitchcock and others, declared it was not a warning to any nation in particular but a definition of this country's position, "before embarrassing situation might arise."

Senator Cummings opposed the resolution because he believed it was not sufficiently direct and specific, he said, in its reference to the control of land by foreign corporations. Senator Lodge insisted that the opening of the Panama canal made it necessary for the United States to "make clear its opposition to the acquisition of land by any foreign power, either directly or through commercial corporations, at any point where it might threaten the safety of this country."

"This resolution," declared Senator Lodge, "is in the interest of peace. It is always desirable to let the position of the country be known beforehand in order to avoid the necessity of urging a friendly power to withdraw when withdrawal would be embarrassing. The opening of the Panama canal made it necessary for the United States to 'make clear its opposition to the acquisition of land by any foreign power, either directly or through commercial corporations, at any point where it might threaten the safety of this country.'"

The resolution was passed by a vote of 74 to 16.

CIVIL SUITS INSTITUTED FOR ASSAULT

Mrs. Pede Alleges Damages for Men's Brutality

Samuel W. Emery, Jr., as counsel for Mrs. John Pede, has brought two actions in tort against Michael Pudinsky and Michael Calenski, each for $500. The actions are based on an alleged assault in which Mrs. Pede claims to have been the victim of the men's brutality.

According to her claims the two men entered her house in June, and after making an insulting proposition and meeting with her refusal jumped upon her and severely pounded her. It is also claimed that they beat up a boarder in the Pede house who attempted to assist her. One of the two men later arrested by the police carried a baton in his pocket. Mrs. Pede also asserts that the two caused considerable damage to her furniture.

Pudinsky and Calenski were arraigned before Judge Thomas H. Simms in police court and each was sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail on Penhallow street and to pay the costs of court.

VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY

Jury Believes Mrs. Daisy Grace's Story of Husband's Shooting.— Crowd In Court Cheers Her

Atlanta, Aug. 2.—Mrs. Daisy Opie Grace was declared not guilty of attempting to kill her husband by shooting by a jury here at 5 o'clock this evening.

Mrs. Grace, wealthy and widely known in her former home in Philadelphia and here, was on the verge of collapse when the 12 men who had decided her fate filed into the courtroom.

When the verdict was announced she simply bowed her head.

A few minutes after she had been freed, she was handed a telegram that her blind son by a former husband was very ill in Philadelphia, and it was said she would leave for his bedside later tonight.

Immediately after the verdict women struggled frantically to reach the place where Mrs. Grace sat, only to be forced back by court officers. The juryman remained in their places even after they had been discharged. A full minute elapsed and then Mrs. Grace arose and was assisted to the jury box.

"God bless you, gentlemen," she said. "I trusted you all the time."

There was a note of hysteria in her voice and she again seemed on the verge of a collapse, but her lawyers patted her on the shoulder and urged her to restrain herself and she soon became calm. Then the crowd in court cheered the verdict and surged about Mrs. Grace, many of the women weeping.

Followed by a cheering throng Mrs. Grace soon left the court room and went to the offices of her attorneys.

The verdict was generally expected. It was conceded that the state failed to sustain the charge that Mrs. Grace had drugged and shot her husband and locked him in to die in order to get $25,000 insurance on his life.

Mrs. Grace's statement made yesterday had a tremendous effect on the jury and its main statements were generally credited, especially those relating to the sums she had lavished on Grace and his attentions to other women.

It developed today that Mrs. Daisy several times.

OBSERVES HIS FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Captain Jones Entertains Fellow Veterans at His Home

Captain Josiah N. Jones is today observing the fiftieth anniversary of his elevation to the office of captain of infantry in the Civil War. In recognition of the event he will entertain members of Storer Post and fellow veterans at his home on Bennett street.

Captain Jones enlisted in the service at Lawrence, Mass., April 15, 1861, the day that President Abraham Lincoln issued the first call for troops. He then served in the Sixth Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry. At the expiration of his enlistment he returned to New Hampshire, and in the following year he assisted in organizing Company D of the Sixth New Hampshire Volunteer Infantry in Carroll and Strafford counties. For this service he was appointed to a lieutenancy in Company D.

At the time of his promotion to a lieutenancy Captain Jones was stationed at Newport News, Va., with the Ninth corps which was commanded by Gen. Ambrose E. Burnside, who signed his commission. Capt. Jones was appointed captain of Company F, which had been organized in Cheshire county. Col. Simon G. Griffin of Keene was colonel of the regiment. Capt. Jones had served in the south in the Burnside expedition which held forth in the Carolinas before his promotion. After the disastrous peninsula campaign he served in the Pope campaign, which culminated in the battles of Second Bull Run and Antietam.

Y. M. C. A. DEFEATED RIVERSIDES IN LOOSE GAME

Errors and Double Plays Frequent—
Paul Badly Injured.

The Y. M. C. A. defeated the Riversides on Friday evening, in a game that was marked by some very brilliant playing and considerable more loose playing. Five double plays were scored to give the game to a great extent. Lorenski started in pitch for the Riversides and gave way to Able and Remick was the star artist for the Y. M. C. A. and although he was hit the Kittery team could not place them safe, whereas the Y. M. C. A. had better luck, and they were aided materially by the errors of Lorenski who went to first after Paul was injured.

winning team, getting a hard throw of Brackets in the first and in the last inning making a double play unassisted by reaching wide for a hit over first. McPheters played second and played a fine game other than once he ran out into right and collided with Weaver who should have taken the ball.

Both sides failed to score in the first inning, although the Y. M. C. A. had the bases full when the side was retired. In the second the Y. M. C. A. scored four runs. After Howard had struck in the head by a fast inshoot, single, both moved up one on a Brackett hit to Huntoon who forced Timmons at third and doubled Brackett at first. They added another run in the third, Remick hitting for two base and he scored on an error by Huntoon.

To this they added three runs in the fourth. McPheters reached first on a pass, went to second on Lorenski failing to hold Able's throw, R. Brackett fanned and Timmons hit for a single and McPheters scored. Gowen hit to Huntoon who threw to first but Lorenski allowed the ball to roll through and Timmons scored. A wild pitch advanced him and C. Brackett walked. Remick fanned. Howard was safe in Grant's error who had replaced Lorenski at first and Gowen ambled home. Weaver fanned.

The Riversides were only able to score in the second. Huntoon singled and stole second. Ned Paul was hit in the face and had to retire and Caswell run for him. Plumptre cracked out a two base hit that scored Huntoon and Caswell. Remick made an over throw to get Plumptre and he scored. Smart singled and was thrown out at second when Lorenski grounded to Remick. Grant singled, Caswell was safe on McPheters dropping a fly during which he ran into Weaver, and Pruett ended the scoring with a strike out. In the next two innings they were out

Triumphant Welcome For Victorious American Olympic Athletes

New York, Aug. 3.—With the arrival here recently of the advance contingent of the American Olympic team, which performed in all around winning fashion at the Stockholm games last month, began the home invasion, which is to end in what is expected to be a national demonstration and carded to take place in this city Aug. 24. The greeting tendered to the competitive heroes as the liner, Vaderland steamed into the harbor and was towed to her pier was almost the equal of the rousing sendoff they got when the complete team started away nearly seven weeks ago on the specially chartered Finland. Twenty-four track and field men were in the large party. Besides the track athletes were the members of the revolver and rifle teams, together with fencers, cyclists and trainers, the majority of them proud possessors of the coveted Olympic medals. Among the bronzed, husky fellows the figure of Mike Murphy, the great trainer, was conspicuous. The grand old veteran looked pale and weak. A big crowd of admirers greeted Gaston Strobino, the little fellow who was third in the classic Marathon race. Escaping from the throng which tried to hold him to its shoulders Strobino rushed over to his mother and, throwing his arms around her, joyfully exclaimed, "I kept my promise to you to finish among the first three!" Group pictures show some of the athletes and their friends on the pier. No. 1 is A. Kruschel, cyclist; No. 2, T. Lilley, runner; No. 3 A. Sockalexis, Marathoner.

Base on balls, by Burr 2, by Lombard 3. Struck out, by Burr 15, by Lombard 7. Sacrifice hits, Hurley, Estelle, Lerner. Double play, Young, Hurley and Morando. Hit by pitched ball, Morton, Hurley. Wild pitch, Lombard. Passed ball, Farnsworth. Time, 1h 50m. Umpire, Murphy.

WHAT MAKES THE HOLES IN CHEESE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—What makes the holes in cheese? What is whisky? What is beer? Is a hen a bird? and other deep problems over which the Government's most learned scientists have studied, argued and almost fought, have been laid aside for research into the causes of the little winding tunnels that penetrate a Swiss cheese.

The holes in cheese, say the men of science, are dollars and cents to the merchant, for they indicate a grade and value. So they propose to learn how they may be encouraged. Carbon dioxide, nitrogen and some of the other imps of chemistry have to do with making the holes, and the professors with the retorts and blow-pipes hope to find a way so every little cheese may have some channels all its own.

One way to relieve habitual constipation is to take regularly a mild laxative. Doan's Regulets are recommended for this purpose. 25c a box at all drug stores.

UNNECESSARY UNEASINESS OVER ROBBERIES

The burglar scare is greatly overdrawn and there is a great deal of unnecessary uneasiness in some parts of the city. All kinds of complaints have been coming into the police and every stranger is under suspicion. All the complaints have been investigated, but in no case has there been any ground to make arrests.

Friday there were several people taken to the police station and questioned, but they proved to be all right and were allowed to go. Two or three young fellows who are soliciting votes for a scholarship have had a hard time of it. They have been taken as suspicious characters and they have proved their innocence.

The alleged break at D. H. McIntosh's house on Middle street, Thursday, is not taken seriously by the police. According to Mrs. McIntosh she hid two rings between mattresses, and Thursday afternoon when she went to look for them they were gone, not another thing in the house or that room were disturbed, and the police are inclined to think that the rings have simply been misplaced.

Special officers are on duty about this city and everybody out after ten o'clock are obliged to give account of themselves. The police have no clues at all to work on.

NEWINGTON.

Mr. and Mrs. James Burnett Pickering have returned after making a short visit at Alton Bay.

Miss Elsie Hodgdon of Portsmouth who has been spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Albert Hodgdon, has now returned home.

Harold Hodgdon of Portsmouth is visiting his cousins on Bay-side.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen and family of Boston, are passing a few weeks with Mrs. Jackson Hoyt.

More than twenty persons attended the Farmers and Grange meetings at Hampton Beach on Wednesday. Some went by trolley and others enjoyed the beautiful ride in their own teams.

Mrs. Ransom and daughter, Eunice are passing the summer with the former's daughter, Mrs. Darius Frink. Miss Tufts of Rochester is the guest of Mrs. Rosamond Packard.

The farmers who would have finished haying are disappointed because of the rains which have prevented their doing so. They are thankful for the rain which will help the late crops.

Mrs. William Lefavour and family of Beverly, Mass., are the guests of Mrs. Justin Rand.

Walter Pickering and Earle Coleman are spending a few days in Boston and vicinity.

The Pleasant Grange held a meeting on Tuesday evening and many of them planned to attend the Grange meeting at Hampton Beach on Wednesday.

* TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS *

Boston, Aug. 2.—Strikes affecting 400 workmen went into effect today in several brass and iron foundries in Boston and vicinity, where the new wage scale providing for a minimum of $3.50 for nine hours' work has been denied. The foundries where the strike is on are concerns in Quincy, Cambridge and Everett, besides firms in this city. Ninety moulders struck at the Fore River Shipbuilding company's yards in Quincy, where the Argentine dreadnaught Rivadavia is under construction.

Chatham, Mass., Aug. 2.—Chatham today continued its celebration of the 200th anniversary of the incorporation of the town, and thousands of people shared in the festivities. The program included baseball games and sports, a parade and a water carnival, with an official drill by the United States lifesaving service. For this evening a concert and ball at the town hall had been arranged.

New York, Aug. 2.—A special train carrying most of the New York delegates to the convention of Progressives in Chicago will leave late this afternoon. The New York city delegation includes about 150 persons, and this number will be augmented by fifty more from the up-state districts, who will board the train en route.

New York, Aug. 2.—The next foreign boxing star to invade the United States will be Ledoux, bantam weight champion of Great Britain and France, who recently knocked out Digger Stanley, the bantamweight champion of Great Britain, in five rounds.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Employees of the street railway lines in Chicago began voting at 4 a. m. today on whether a strike is to be declared.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 2.—Tennessee members of the Progressive party met here today to name delegates to the Chicago convention. The avowed intention of Progressive leaders to launch a state ticket seems to be the feature of most interest.

Allentown, Pa., Aug. 2.—Unique in the history of railroading are the tremendous trains that have within the past week been made up on the Lehigh Valley railroad. A few days ago a train of 115 cars of coal, bound for the Bethlehem Steel works, created wonderment. Since then the trains have constantly been growing larger.

Mexico City, Mex., Aug. 2.—Sierra Juarez Indians in the state of Oaxaca have renewed their revolt against the government. It is reported today that a large body of the warriors is marching on Ixtlan, forty miles from the state capital.

New York, Aug. 2.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today in the U. S. district court against Hackett, Carhart & Co., a well-known clothing firm of this city, by three firms. The claims of the petitioning creditors aggregate $10,500. Admission of insolvency is alleged in the petition.

Gloversville, N. Y., Aug. 2.—Deer are becoming numerous hereabouts. During the past week four parties living within the city limits have reported depredations in their gardens caused by does and fawns.

The Detroit Free Press says strange what a lot of innocent men are admitting that they took the money.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer says we are told that the latest member of the Allen gang "broke down and wept" when he received his sentence. All these romantic murderers are yellow when the spotlight is turned on.

The mayor of Boston says that women know less about flying than men. They know more, because fewer of them are doing it—Detroit Free Press.

Wise are the Bostonians.

The Malden News says we feel that a great many republicans will wait until very near election day before they decide how to vote for president. They do not want four years of democratic power again. They cannot afford it as a plain business proposition. They do not want an academic schoolmaster free trader in the White House, ready to sign anything a democratic congress, dominated by the solid south, may put up to him. To avert that calamity they are willing to vote for either Taft or Roosevelt and they are awaiting to see who will prove the stronger. Democratic mismanagement has meant commercial disaster to this country before and we do not want it again.

The New York World says the strike now threatened by 10,000 New York girls and women working upon children's dresses ought to come to pass and it ought to succeed. The grievance is the profanity of foremen. Industrial bosses are sometimes more intolerable than political bosses. Employers who inflict upon their working people foremen of the swearing and abusive sort are entitled to nobody's sympathy. The more strikes they have the better. There should be strike after strike until they and their ruffianly agents learn their lesson well. Self-respecting women who resent curses and cantankerous deserve public support. Every fight that they win against a blackguard is a victory for society and government more important than many political triumphs that we read about.

The Laconia Democrat says: The Pillsbury Senatorial Association, a close corporation formed to promote the election of Col. Rosencrans W. Pillsbury of Londonderry to the United States Senate, is sending out a broadcast appeal for support in the shape of a three page circular letter, which is devoted entirely to proving that Gov. Henry B. Quinn is sixty-six years old, and had already creditably filled most of the high offices within the gift of New Hampshire, while on the other hand, Col. Pillsbury is only forty-eight years old, and has been an unsuccessful candidate for most of the offices which Gov. Quinn has filled. The Pillsbury appeal is generally regarded as something of a joke, for it is succeeded in convincing New Hampshire people that youth and inexperience in public affairs are the requirements of a United States Senator, there may possibly be somebody in the Granite State even younger and more inexperienced than "Rose."

Current Topics.

Mr. Taft Notified

Mr. Taft and Mr. Root, in their excellent addresses delivered recently, both place the emphasis on the same thing. Both see in the attacks on representative government contained in the initiative and referendum and the recall the gravest and most important menace of the day and of this campaign. They warn the voters against those who would thus tinker with the very corner stone of our political structure. They extol the work of the fathers, and consider it still sound and equal to all existing requirements.

Is not this position justified? The tariff is an important issue, but at this time is largely one of rates and classifications. Protection for its own sake well adjusted is the republican doctrine, while a tariff for revenue only as soon as it can be reached is the democratic cry. But a tariff so low as to paralyze many American industries could and would be remedied soon after its baleful effects had been felt. While heavy, the loss would be in dollars and cents, and but temporary.

Trusts likewise are an important issue, and one of dollars and cents. Regulation is the remedy, and in some form it will be applied. Such losses and embarrassments as may occur while the full remedy is being sought will cease as soon as the remedy is found.

But if we enter upon experiments which go to the very foundations of the government itself, and weaken the foundations, the loss, rising infinitely higher than mere money, may be irremediable. We may lose the direction upon which as a people we were started and for more than a hundred years have successfully followed, and wander off heaven knows where. Mr. Taft thinks we should pull up at socialism; and there is much to support the contention.

In subordinating the other issues, Mr. Taft does not neglect or belittle them. He takes a clear and firm stand as to the tariff, the trusts and other questions of large interest, and points out the accomplishments of his administration to date. He has blown his own horn so little, and suffered so much detraction because of his silence, that the public at this time owes him full attention for what he submits as his claims to indorsement in November.

Especially note is due to what Mr. Root in his address says on the subject of Mr. Taft's renomination. It is a complete reply to Mr. Roosevelt's charge that the renomination is tainted with fraud. Mr. Taft and his friends, therefore, are able to quote the New York senator, with his large knowledge of the law and of party usage, and his large knowledge of what took place at Chicago, against the man who sought to control the national convention by fraud, and whose attacks on that body since have measured the bitterness of his deserved defeat.—Washington Star.

BATTLESHIP FIGHT HOT

House Will Not Take Up Bill Till After Caucus—Both Sides Preparing for Struggle.

Washington, Aug. 2.—The fight over battleships in the present naval appropriation bill has grown so intense that the measure will not be brought up in the House until next Thursday, after the democratic caucus has voted on its former no-battleship decision.

The caucus will be held Tuesday night and a struggle is expected.

It was reported today that the Democrats behind the "no battleships" pledge will remain away from the caucus to prevent a quorum if it developed that the battleship advocates had strength sufficient to reverse the original caucus decision.

Battleship advocates retorted that in such a contingency they probably would agree that they were freed from caucus pledges and then would bring the matter up on the floor of the House, where they would press the fight for two powerful warships.

CANADA WANTS SOMETHING IN RETURN

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Robert L. Borden, prime minister of the Dominion of Canada, who this week invited British cabinet ministers to visit Canada, has during his visit to London made his position very clear on the subject of the naval assistance that Canada is to offer the mother country.

Mr. Borden and his colleagues of the Dominion cabinet told the British cabinet that Canada is prepared to help Great Britain maintain her naval supremacy, but when she does so she will want to be consulted as to the way the money is spent.

When Mr. Borden and his five colleagues arrived it was announced with a great flourish that they came with an offer to contribute a squadron of four dreadnaughts to England. This was accepted by the public so there is certain to be some disappointment when the part Canada proposes to take is finally settled. Mr. Borden himself says this will not be until after his return to Canada and he has had an opportunity of consulting with the full cabinet.

"There are only five of us here and the cabinet consists of 18 members, so it is not likely that we should make any decision until we have had a full meeting," said the premier. "We are simply here," he added, "to find out the true position of affairs and secure all the facts for cabinet consideration."

These facts have been given by members of the British cabinet and the committee of Imperial defence at a series of joint meetings with the Canadian statesmen, who have also had the advantage of conferences with the officials of the Admiralty and foreign office. These conferences will be resumed during the coming visit of Mr. Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, to Canada.

RAILROAD NOTES

Louis Hall has taken a position as transfer man at the American Express office at the depot.

The boilermakers and machinists at the Boston & Maine shop at Concord meet on the baseball diamond in that city this afternoon.

The remonstrants' brief in the Sullivan county railroad case has been filed with the public service commission, and the answer of the railroad is due on August 15.

It has been predicted that the two-track elevation along the Boston & Maine railroad through Lynn will be completed by the first of November, which fact probably explains the recent orders issued for rush work all along the line. While many minor details will probably remain unfinished by that date, it is said to be the plan of the engineers to have two tracks permanently elevated and the trains arriving and leaving Lynn on the upper level early in November. The elevation of the two tracks will leave a large portion of the work unfinished. Many changes and alterations have yet to be made about the station proper, which will occupy the attention of the carpenters for several weeks. But little of the station work can be started, however, until the completion of the wall structure.

AN EXCELLENT BILL

At Portsmouth Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday

In addition to Selig's wonderful masterpiece, "The Coming of Columbus," one of the finest programs ever witnessed at any theatre house, will be presented at Portsmouth theatre the first three days of next week.

Included in the picture section of the program is a very strong drama by the Vitaphone Co. of America, entitled "The Fatherland of Billy McGee," telling a story of the early days on the plains.

"The Lord and the Peasant," by Edison and a big comedy by Lubin, "Man Wanted," with the three reels of "The Coming of Columbus," will complete the picture program.

The vaudeville will be headed by Richard Hamlin, who will present an original singing and dancing novelty entitled, "The Madley Man in Brown." The title is sure appropriate, and the music is a melody arrangement, consisting of over a hundred popular airs.

Mr. Brown is the inventor of the hollow heel and fibre sole dancing shoes which he wears in his act. He is purely original in his methods and is considered America's foremost dancing critics to be one of the greatest and most versatile performers in his respective line.

Marie Daly, "The Girl With the Parasol," a dainty songstress will offer a lively singing and dancing act.

Mr. George Reynolds will be heard in the latest and most popular songs of the day.

Mrs. Kate Cutler, who has been the guest of Mrs. Louise Nelson at Cape Porpoise, has returned to this city and is the guest of her son, Dana Cutler.

CHELSEA WILL GET THE MUSTER

At a recent meeting of the officials of the New England Veteran Firemen's league held at Providence, it was practically agreed that the annual big muster will be held at Chelsea, Mass. Final details will be carried out at a meeting in Boston on Tuesday next. The date set for the muster is August 22. Portsmouth veterans are much pleased that a nearby city is likely to have the celebration and a big crowd of red shirts from Portsmouth will go up with the band and Eureka and do battle for the big money.

SAY ITS UP TO SENATOR BURNHAM

The liability of the two houses of congress to agree on the retention of the pension agencies now spread over the land, is declared to be due to Senator Burnham of New Hampshire who is strenuously objecting to account of the agency located in his state.

The design is to concentrate all the work of the agencies in the pension bureau at Washington which has been advocated by the last several pension commissioners by the last secretaries of the interior and by Presidents Taft and Roosevelt. The house of representatives, Republicans and Democrats, has passed a pension bill, abolishing the agencies, but the senate has insisted on their retention and has so far succeeded. It is concluded that a saving of several hundred

BITS OF SPORT

The Red Sox will move on to Cleveland after today's game at St. Louis, while the Senators will take up the fight against the White Sox in Chicago Sunday afternoon.

Lawrence leads Lowell in the New England League by only half a game this morning. By taking the first game of a double-header yesterday the team jumped to first place, holding it only so long as it took to play the second game.

Bob Bescher, Roger Bresnahan, Mike Mitchell, Frank Schulte, John Hummel, Fred Snodgrass and Larry McLean, who have been hitherto among the premier sluggers of the National league, are battling poorly this season, and not one of them seems to have an even chance to finish the season with as good an average as .300.

Fans in this section who are rooting for the Boston Red Sox have been hoping that the Washington club would take a slump, but to date there is nothing doing in the slump line for the Senators. And what is more it looks as if there will be none for some time, as the team is now in the West, which section appeals to the Senators more than their home grounds do.

John M. Ward is out of baseball again and it was an odd way in which he got into the sport this last time. Ward and Ned Hanlon were fighting on "doing something" in a baseball way, and not a few believed that the Independent league was going to exist and that Ward and Hanlon would secure a franchise, perhaps in New York and maybe in Brooklyn. But just at a time when such a move was in the air along came the Boston National League club proposition and Ward fell for it. Hanlon was supposed to be in, on the bat but Ned refused to put up the dough when the showdown came. Ward was somewhat disappointed at this back-down on the part of Hanlon and for a time he was in a stew. He finally located Jim Gaffney, who came to the front with the coin, and it is Gaffney who has purchased Ward's share of the Boston club.

RESOLUTION CONSIDERED BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Senate on Reaffirming Monroe Doctrine Talk State Secrets in Executive Session.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Before the Senate had proceeded far with the Magdalena Bay resolution, discussion began to touch so close to Government secrets that the doors were closed and consideration went on in executive session.

Senator Lodge calling up the resolution, which is framed to record the disapproval with which the United States would view the acquisition of any property by foreign interests on the Western Hemisphere which might eventually become military or naval bases, declared that its passage was in the interest of peace.

"The Committee on Foreign Relations believed it wise that the United States should make its position known, and should not let a situation arise in which it might be necessary to urge a friendly Nation to withdraw when that Nation could not do so without humiliation," said he. "This is merely a statement of policy, to make clear the position this Nation will take under such circumstances."

The resolution declared the United States could not see without grave concern any advantageous position on the American continent pass into the control of a foreign corporation, that might be dominated by a foreign Government.

"What is the real meaning of this resolution, as it affects the Monroe doctrine?" asked Senator Cummins. Is it an extension or further application of that principle?

"Right to Protect Its Own Safety."

"The declaration rests on a much broader and older ground than the Monroe doctrine," replied Senator Lodge. "This resolution rests on the generally accepted principle that every Nation has a right to protect its own safety; and if it feels that the possession of any given harbor or place is prejudicial to its safety, it is its duty and right to intervene."

Senator Lodge said the Monroe doctrine did not touch on the precise point involved in the Magdalena Bay case. "In this particular case," he said, it became apparent, from the inquiries we made, that no Government was engaged in trying to get hold of Magdalena Bay. But it did become apparent that certain people were trying to dispose of the land about the bay to a foreign corporation. While a Government takes no possession of a place, itself, possession may be taken by a foreign corporation that would be under the control of that Government."

Senator Lodge added that the opening of the Panama Canal gave to Magdalena Bay an importance it had never before possessed, as the Panama routes pass in front of it.

Cummins Doesn't Deem it Wise.

Senator Cummins expressed the opinion that the resolution did not make clear the relation between a foreign Government and a foreign corporation.

"I do not deem it wise for the United States to say that the stock of a corporation owning land around Magdalena Bay should not be held by citizens of another country, without some relation of stockholder to their government," said he.

Senator Cummins warned the Government from taking a position from which it might be compelled to recede with chagrin and humiliation. Senator Stone called for more information, and thereupon Senator Lodge moved that the Senate consider the resolution behind closed doors, and an executive session was ordered.

EXETER LETTER

EXETER

In police court Friday morning, Edward McKinnon, a stranger in Exeter, who was arrested at the Boston & Maine railroad station Thursday afternoon, was arraigned before Special Justice Richard E. Shutevart on a charge of being intoxicated. He pleaded guilty, and was given a thirty days' sentence at the Rockingham county farm at Brentwood, and fined $5 and costs which amounted to $8.62. The stranger claimed to be an itinerant, and said that he had never been in Exeter before. He asked that he be given a chance to get to Rochester, where he intended to go to work. McKinnon said that he formerly lived in Claremont. A mittimus was issued in Claremont, and he was taken to the farm by Officer Irving Hunter.

It appears that there would be another big entrance at the Phillips Exeter academy this fall, as the applications for rooms at the different dormitories are coming in rapidly. During the summer vacation, the rooms at the academy, and the dormitories are being cleaned and repaired and they will be in first class condition when the school opens in September.

Most of the faculty members are spending the vacation at different places, but of those who have been here during the summer, Moses B. Perkins and family have left for a stop at Franconia, and Prof. Joseph S. Ford, accompanied by his mother and sister, have gone to Chicoma. Principal Ames has returned from a ten days' trip to Franconia.

Leroy P. Otis of Newfields, known in this section as a baseball player, some fifteen years ago, has had an affliction to his right hand developed during the past few years, and it is necessary to have an operation performed. He was in Exeter Friday seeking medical advice. He was told that it was tuberculosis of the bone, and that it had become necessary to go to a hospital for expert treatment in Boston. There will be need of an operation, but it is not thought that his hand will be lost.

The funeral services of Miss Jennie H. Harvey were held Friday afternoon at the home on Water street, conducted by the Rev. George H. Driver, pastor of the First church. The hearers were Charles W. Baker, John N. Thompson, Albertus T. Dudley, and Thorley Gardner. The floral tributes were many. Miss Harvey was a valedictorian school teacher, having taught for many years in the Spring street primary school. She died suddenly at the home of her brother in Pittsfield, Wednesday at the age of 76 years.

The Rev. Henry V. Vinal of Stratford will preach at the Baptist church, Sunday in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Ansley E. Woodsum, who is away on his annual vacation.

The Rev. Dr. S. H. Dana, pastor of the Phillips church, will resume services here, tomorrow, after having his vacation during the month of July. It will be a union service as the pastor of the First church, the Rev. George H. Driver, is away on his vacation. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock, Dr. Dana will preach at the ancient church at Danville.

The Boston & Maine railroad is having the tracks raised six inches between here and East Kingston, the work being done by a party of Italian laborers who live in a car side-tracked here. The railroad station at Newfields is also receiving a much-needed coat of paint.

The Misses Beatrice and Florence Baker, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dana W. Baker have recently returned from a visit with the former's seminary class-mate, Miss Barbara L. Moore, formerly of Exeter, at her home in Millbury, Mass., and camp at Lake Quinsigamond at Worcester. In Worcester, Miss Florence was the guest of a Bradford seminary classmate, Miss Esther Forbes.

Edwin G. Eastman and family are at their summer home at Grantham.

George N. Faxon, formerly of Exeter, a graduate from the academy with the class of 1894, was married recently to Miss Frances Hildreth Harmon of Gardner, Mass., in that city.

ESAU'S IN NOBILITY

German Scions Who Sell Their Birthright.

Are Known as "Name Marriages"—One Sold for Ten Marks, a Second Hand Suit of Clothes and a Supper.

Berlin.—Berlin society is again agitated over the question of "name marriages," a subject which has long been a painful one in the annals of many noble families, making an unpleasant chapter in the history of German morals.

Name marriages have recently become of frequent occurrence owing to the ever increasing large number of scapagoat scions of noble houses who are quite willing to become modern Esaus, selling their birthright for the modern equivalent of a mess of pottage to any ambitious plebeian "Schultz," "Muller," "Meyer," etc., who offers, not himself, indeed, but a certain stipulated sum of money.

The case of a well known Berlin demimondaine, Countess Frieda von Strachwitz, in her more respectable days employed a masseuse, and who was murdered about three years ago, was a notable instance of name marriage. She became a countess at the cheapest price on record. Her worthless husband sold himself, together with his name, a crest, and a nine-pointed grafen crown, to the masseuse for ten marks in gold, a second-hand suit of clothes and a hot supper.

On the other hand some fair prices are on record. A recent name marriage contracted between a well-to-do Berlin parvenue and a member of an ancient Brandenburg and Pomeranian family distinguished in war and peace, cost (according to the Neue Gesellschaftliche correspondence) the parvenue wife 10,000 marks, conditioned, of course, on the titled husband disappearing immediately after the wedding and allowing the wife to sue for divorce on the ground of desertion.

Name marriages are purely and simply a business affair.

SUPPOSED DEAD MAN REVIVES

Veterinary Surgeon Signs Certificate, and "Deceased" Registers Protest.

Vienna.—A wealthy landowner named Masny had a narrow escape from being buried alive at Zaravica, in Galicia. He had fallen in a fit, and as there is no doctor in the neighborhood, a veterinary surgeon was called in, who pronounced him dead, and gave a certificate of death from apoplexy.

A large number of his relatives were present at the funeral and, in accordance with the local custom, after the coffin had been lowered into the grave and the final blessing given by the priest, they began themselves to shovel in the first spadefuls of earth.

This apparently roused the supposed dead man from his trance, for faint cries for help were heard from the coffin. Most of the bystanders ran away in a panic, but the more sensible immediately helped the priest to open the coffin. Masny was quite conscious, and, after he had been given a restorative and been helped out of the coffin, was able to walk home with a borrowed overcoat over his grave clothes.

MAGAZINES SAVE HIS LIFE

Bundle on His Back Protects a Man When Tossed by a Train at Jamesburg, N. J.

Jamesburg, N. J.—Crossing the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at night, Robert Cross of Georgia, who is visiting here, failed to hear an approaching train and walked directly in front of the locomotive.

Spectators gasped as they saw him leap just as a cylinder struck a bag of magazines he was carrying on his back, and the man, hurled to the side of the track, was spun around like a top until he dropped in a dizzy faint beside the rails, his head within six inches of the wheels.

He was taken to the home of friends and revived and the physicians found that, aside from a few minor bruises, he was unhurt.

DOWNY CHICK GETS CREDIT

Hon. Career Started at Two Weeks Old, Says Poultryman—Egg Is Tiny Affair.

Woodland, Wash.—Carl Johnson, who operates a poultry yard here, is exhibiting a plate of nine eggs, six of which are full-sized and were laid by one-year-old pullets, two are about one-third size and were laid by chicks March 23, 1912, and the ninth egg is a tiny affair that was laid by a chick that had been out of the incubator only two weeks. Mr. Johnson stakes his reputation for veracity on this story. The chickens are white Leghorns.

RATS ATTACK BABY IN CRIE

Six-Months-Old Infant Bitten and Gnawed During Mother's Absence.

Philadelphia.—Left alone by his mother all afternoon and evening, six-months-old Frederick Brogden, colored, was attacked by rats as he lay in a crib at his parents' home, 228 South Warwick street.

The puny struggle the infant was able to make proved to be little protection against the vicious rodents, and when the mother, Mrs. Mary B. Brogden, finally did return she found her baby with the ends of five of his fingers chewed off, both ears gnawed, and his body lacerated by the teeth of the rats, several of which jumped from the crib and scurried across the floor as she entered the room.

Mrs. Brogden's cries attracted the attention of neighbors, who, on learning what had happened, summoned an ambulance and in it the infant, semi-conscious from pain and loss of blood, and in a serious condition from shock, was removed to the Jefferson hospital, where it was said he would recover.

BEARS DEVOUR DEAD SAILORS

Cordova, Alaska.—The revenue cutter Manning arrived from the wreck of the lighthouse tender Armeria, near Cape Minchibrook, bringing $20,000 worth of the Armeria's cargo, consisting principally of supplies intended for the lighthouses along the southwestern coast. The Manning landed five men on Montague island, where the barge Hayden Brown was lost, but they were unable to find the two bodies left there by August Palmer, the sole survivor of the barge. It is believed that Kodiak bears, seen by Palmer, carried the bodies into the woods.

BLAMES GLASSES UPON CAPS

Doctor Says Freshmen's Practice In Jures the Eyes—Are Unprotected From Sun.

Ithaca, N. Y.—Dr. Melven Dressbach of Cornell has compiled figures by which he shows that 27 per cent. of the men at Cornell wear glasses. He labels the habit of making the freshmen year little caps without any visors as a vicious habit and declares it should be abandoned as the caps furnish no protection to the eyes from the sun.

Two Casks of Wine.

If wine could talk, there are two casks of it which passed through Houston the other day which would tell an interesting story.

This wine, consigned to a firm in Baltimore, was aboard the El Sud when that boat sank just out of Galveston over two weeks ago. Three days ago the casks were picked up by life savers of the United States life saving station at Point Isabel, near Brownsville.

They were brought to Brownsville and turned over to the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexican railroad. J. A. Brown, general freight agent of the line, ordered the goods shipped on to the firm to whom they were originally consigned. The address of this firm was still visible on the casks and there was no mistaking to whom they should be sent. The wine will be turned over to the Morgan line at Galveston Monday.

There is some doubt existing in the minds of railroad officials as to whom the liquor should be cased. It is the first case on record of goods being given up by the sea to a railroad company, and there is no book in the office for keeping track of this class of freight. The wine was originally sent by the Italian colony of Southern California.—Houston Post.

Boys Copy Desperado's Exploits. The notoriety given to Bonnot has fired the imagination of an eighteen-year-old boy named Martin Lacour.

Living in the French town of Maure, in the central department of Cantal, this lad, who has been reading the exploits of the band, resolved to imitate Bonnot. He armed himself the other day with a hatchet and a gun got possession of some cartridges, and then barricaded himself in his room, refusing to leave it. "You will have to dynamite me as they did Bonnot," he cried. Finally the gendarmes were sent for, and as they were surrounding the house the boy fired at them. His next exploit was to escape from an attic window, and he fled to a neighboring wood, where, after a long hunt, he was found making cartridges in a thicket. Three young ruffians also attempted to seize a motor delivery van near Nancy by cutting through the pneumatic tires. But they took flight without the car, alarmed by the cries of the chauffeur.

Mats Made From Straw Matting.

In days gone by nearly every one used straw matting on their sleeping room floors, but this is the age of bare floors and mats. I have made some nice mats from some matting that I had once used on a floor. I selected the best parts and cut them in lengths varying from one yard and three-quarters to two yards. I unravelled the ends about four inches and tied them in a double knot; that keeps them from fraying any more and makes a kind of fringe which I think is much nicer than hemmed ends. I wash mine with salt and water, which freshens them up wonderfully. These mats are especially suitable for sleeping rooms or for a strip for a hall. They are very easy to handle they are so light, and they are easy to sweep. They look well on a hardwood floor. The parts of my carpet that showed signs of wear I converted into placemats, so nothing was wasted. Matting makes excellent doormats for the outside doorstep or outside entrance, and you will be surprised how much less sand gets tracked in.

Painless Disjointment.

Mr. Little, in his book on Madagascars, tells an amusing story of a friend, who, on a journey from the coast to the interior, was much troubled by the curiosity of the natives being a fine looking man with a flowing beard, he excited the admiration and amazement of all. Natives crowded the doors of his hut and jostled one another to get a peep through convenient chinks, giving him all the time their opinion of his eyes, nose and general appearance. In vain did he shut the door of his hut. They crowded back again, and at last sat down in rings outside the hut to discuss his want of good manners in sending them away. At last the stranger could stand it no longer. It was a bright moonlight night. He suddenly rushed to the door of his hut, threw it open, and with a loud shout sprang toward the natives. At the same time he drew from his mouth two rows of false teeth and waved them in the air. The natives took one look at the dreadful sight, and then fled in horror from the presence of "a man who could take himself to pieces."

Ambassador's Privileges.

An accredited ambassador is wholly free from the jurisdiction of the courts of law or of any other authority in the country to which he is sent. His house is as sacred as his person. It is regarded not as belonging to the country in which he is living, but as a part of the country which sent him. It could no more be entered by the police than a town could be occupied by the soldiery of another nation. This protection is extended to the inmates of the house. If a wrong is committed by some one in the employ of an ambassador, in any capacity, the only means of redress is an appeal to the ambassador or to the government which sent him, and which will not, it is supposed, allow a wrong to be sheltered under the peculiar privileges granted its representative.

Thumbs In Social Customs.

Few persons realize how important a role the thumb has played in the social customs of the people. Erskine records that among certain classes of people in Scotland the final settlement of a bargain was always signified by the flexing and joining of thumbs.

Selden says that kissing the thumb was a characteristic of servility. The clergy, the rich and the great, were in receipt of this honor from tradesmen.

From remote times the practice of flexing the thumb has been regarded as a solemn pledge or promise, existing, according to Tacitus and others, among the Goths, the Iberians and the Moors, and it may also be traced through successive periods down to the present time.

Both Use Them.

Redd—Don't you think the cost of living is increasing?
Greene—Oh, yes; I used to keep a horse, and now I've got an automobile.
Redd—What's that got to do with it?
Greene—It costs me more for shoes.

Like a Woman.

"Miss Mande did a most unbusinesslike thing to me the other day."
"What was it?"
"She gave me the refusal of her hand and then accepted another fellow."

TASTING WINE FOR LIVING

Strange Calling Followed by Women Born With Delicate Palates Is Very Lucrative.

Of the list of strange callings followed by women that of wine tasting is one of the most curious and lucrative. As a matter of fact, Mlle. Collinere, whose services are in great demand in France, Germany and Italy as a wine taster, is said to make an income of about £5,000 a year, many firms employing her for regular work and frequently for special duty.

Only half a dozen wine tasters have been known to history, the most renowned of these being the wife of a famous London wine merchant, Mme. Pommeroy, who died in Paris (twelve years ago, and Signora Sousa, who has a great reputation in Spain on account of her judgment and knowledge of wine.

Wine tasters, it appears, are born, not made, and must possess the gift of a rare and delicate palate. To this, of course, must be added a knowledge of wines. Mlle. Collinere's taste is so fine and her knowledge of wines such that she can discern from the first taste of a wine just where the grapes grew from which it was made, whether they were raised in California or in the vineyards of France, Germany, or elsewhere. She can easily detect adulteration of any sort, or if there is a blend and of which wines, and can tell the age of a wine almost to a day. As a matter of fact, there are no eccleciats a bottle of wine can withhold from this remarkable Frenchwoman once she has had a spoonful of it in her mouth.

She does not swallow the wine. In fact, she is a teetotaler, and if she were to drink wine would lose her subtle magic of taste. Furthermore, she is obliged to take the greatest care of her health. She must be well in order to do her work, for her senses lose their cunning when she gets out of health.—Tit-Bits.

BRUIN OBTAINS HIS SUPPER

Hunter Describes the Clever Work of a Hungry Bear in Catching a Salmon.

One year, the berries being destroyed, many bears visited the river for fish. I was walking up the river shore one evening about sunset watching for a bear.

I saw, perched upon a flat rock some few feet from the shore, a large black bear. I could not tell at first what he was doing. He was stooping down with one paw in the water, waving it gently to and fro. I watched closely and saw, just beyond his reach, a large male salmon, so nearly dead that he could not swim. The bear was using his paw to create an eddy which would draw the fish within his grasp. Slowly the salmon drifted toward the rock.

It was amusing to watch how carefully the bear moved his paw so as not to frighten his prey. At last the fish came within reach, Bruin reached over, gave it a quick seize, seized it by its jaws and leaped ashore. The whole performance tickled me so that I let him go off, the salmon dangling in his mouth, without even taking a shot at him.—Charles Stuart Moody in the Outlook Magazine.
